MUERNBERG, (AP) — A high source disclosed Friday that the Allied control council had voted down, after a long and bitter debate, a proposal that the brains of the executed Nazi traitors be examined for possible scientific clues as to what makes a Nazi brain tick.

Investigation of the means by which Hermann Goering obtained the cyanide which enabled him to cheat the gallows Tuesday night continued.

One new fact popped up when a security officer said Goering had planned to take his life three months ago with a sharp piece of celluloid extracted from the ear.

Why not talk over your new plans with an architect—now!

2nd Man Jailed In Pickets' Trial

Grand Centre, was given two months' at hard labor. The sentence is to be appealed. It was announced, the men being free on bail of $1,000 each.

The charges were laid by R.C.M.P. when a number of farm pickets delivered Lloyd Lybret, tractor driver, to the Beaver Crossing stockyards in the fracas Lybret fell from his horse, fracturing his foot in two places.

One Charge Withdrawn

Charge against one of the 11 appearing Thursday—Ray Matthews, Cold Lake, was withdrawn by the court. Greater speed was made by the court Thursday with much of the evidence entered Wednesday in the trial of Harbomberg being used.

Hamre, in cross-examination by E. H. Hart, crown counsel, denied he waved his hands and shouted as was testified by Cpl. T. McNally, R.C.M.P. He told the court he had gone to the scene with George York also charged, but did not expect trouble, although he had heard rumours Lybret was planning to drive the cattle to market.

In Pedersen's trial, Lybret said he had "gone through" the herd in his car, "trying to scare them to the east of the road." At this time, Lybret said he saw Pedersen standing at the bottom of a hill where the tracks took place, and he saw chase to Pedersen on horseback after the latter had used tin cans on a wire loop in an effort to frighten the cattle.

Constable D. E. Lohrner, R.C.M.P., also testified he saw Pedersen on the road going and waving at the cattle.

Defense Evidence

In defense, Pedersen said Lybret "came riding right at me, at the bottom of the hill, and I jumped aside so as not to be hit by the horse." Lybret said he saw Pedersen, said "I walked across the road and later the riders came after me to drive me away." In cross-examination, he stated he was "assigned" at a meeting to picket at the Beaver river crossing.

In the trial of Nelson, Lybret, under cross-examination by W. O. Fuller, St. Paul defense counsel, stated he was sure whether Nelson was trying to hit him or whether Nelson was trying to defend himself. Lybret admitted he was swinging his lariat at Nelson.

Others continued denied on the stand they were performing more than lawful picketing.

In his testimony, Kerr said the efforts of the riders actually caused the cattle to disperse, but later admitted he was "holding a little. I had two tin cans in my hands and was making a noise." Prior to his conviction, crown counsel suggested testimony toward Kerr because of his straightforward and frank testimony.

Summers declared he joined the A.P.U. after the Beaver river incident, but was not a member before that time. He said he went to the crossing when asked to do so by pickets to help in stopping the herd.

Carl J. Stimpfle, president of the A.P.U., arrived here Thursday and attended the night sitting of the court. After adjournment, he went into conference with union members.

MacInnis Sees Coal People's Heritage

NEW GLASGOW, N.S. (CP) — The coal fields of Canada are one of the great material resources and should be the heritage of the people instead of a source of wealth for a few corporations, Angus MacInnis, C.P. member of parliament for Vancouver East, said at a public meeting here Thursday night.

"One of the great tragedies," Mr. MacInnis said, "is that the corporations which have gained control of our resources not only plunder some of them without regard for the future, but they also refuse to devote others with callous indifference to the needs of the people in the areas concerned."

Ask Army to Help Quell India Riots

CALCUTTA, (CP) — The Bengal advisory committee declared Thursday that military aid was "absolutely essential to save the situation" in parts of eastern Bengal where one source said a new outbreak of Hindu-Muslim violence has claimed 5,000 lives and affected 50,000 persons in the last 10 days.

While there was no official report on the situation, Durjoy Kumar Ghosh, president of the Bengal Provincial Congress committee, released the casualty figures, which exceeded the more than 2,000 killed in the Bengal Calcutta riots.

"The only effective way to bring the situation under control," he said, "is to bomb areas where trouble has occurred," Ghosh concluded.

The advisory committee was made up of editors, doctors, public leaders in Bengal who have sought to control the spread of rioting which they say merely fan more communal killings and deaths.

A telegram received by the committee said the disturbances were spreading north of the Noakhali district to Chanderpur, a subdivision of the Tippera district in eastern Bengal approximately 150 miles north of Calcutta.

RAJMAH, North West Frontier, India, (Reuters) — The tribesmen, crouched behind rocks and scrub on three gun-scorched, northwestern frontier hills, opened fire on this morning toward the station where an aircraft bringing in Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, India's new prime minister, and his party arrived here Thursday.

British artillery in the town returned the fire which continued to desecrate the fashion throughout the day.

Nehru is visiting primitive Waziristan in an effort to bring tribal leaders into the new government.

The sniping tribesmen used at least one 20-millimeter cannon stripped from a crashed British aircraft and is believed to be a 31 mounted gun, as well as rifles, but no casualties were reported.

The marksmen are reported to be adherents of the Fakir of Ipi, who is said to have a cave hide-out in the black Waziristan hills near the Afghan border and about 30 miles from here.

LIVERPOOL, (Reuters) — Max Aitken, member of parliament and son of press magnate Lord Beaverbrook, praised Hugh Dalton, chancellor of the exchequer, in a meeting here Thursday for the manner in which the chancellor "put party politics aside and steps out for this country alone when this country is in any way at stake."

"We of the Conservatives, and especially the young Conservatives, consider Mr. Dalton a great chancellor," Mr. Aitken said.

Liberals Blamed For Farm Problems

WESTBROOK, MAN. (CP) — Western agriculture will become a "depressed industry" if discriminatory policies of the Liberal government are long continued, John Bracken, national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, said in an address Thursday night.

Mr. Bracken was speaking in support of C. C. Miller, Progressive Conservative candidate in the Oct. 21. Progress in Prairie federal by-election.

He said the government's discriminatory policy in respect to bounties already had started a decline in the hog industry of western Canada. If not altered, destruction of the industry as a major enterprise on the prairies was inevitable.

However, he termed the wheat agreement as the biggest factor in depressing the agricultural industry.

"If farm prices are kept below parity there can be no other result in the long run," he said.

Use of Atom Bomb Criticized by Canon

CANTERBURY, ENGLAND, (Reuters) — A motion condemning the use of the atom bomb was presented and passed by the House of Commons on Thursday night.

The proposal was introduced by Canon Lindsay Dewar, who said he thought the bomb should not have been used because it was not essential to the winning of the war.

Melchior Auctions Songs, Autographs

CALGARY, (CP) — Lauris Melchior, famed opera singer and motion picture star, proved Thursday night he is one of the world's finest tenors, but he also showed he could be just as successful as an auctioneer or a salesman.

At a banquet here, attended by 800 Danish citizens and other Calgary residents, the auctioneer, Melchior auctioned six copies of a song which he had previously sung to the Danish king "Der Rader en Kong" by Victor Berge, Danish pianist-comedian.

Proceeds were to help "our old comrades and countrymen." After the banquet he remained to sign autographs for the masses of the city.

Bidault Wins Big 4 Hearing But Balked by Home Affairs

PARIS, (GNA)—Premier President Georges Bidault has probably the toughest job of any statesman in the world today as he approaches the coming elections in the unenviable role of president of a transitional government, premier of a shaky tripartite coalition, foreign minister of a government on its way out, and spiritual leader of France's first party, which is torn internally by factional rivalries.

The most serious of his many serious problems are those presented by his job as foreign minister and as chief of the French Republic Movement (MRP), a former minister, he conferred this week with the other leaders of the Big Four. After many months of planning for a Big Four meeting on the question of Germany, M. Bidault now finds such a meeting acceptable to his colleagues but at a moment when he knows that France makes it virtually impossible for him to attend a meeting of the four foreign ministers.

Not Bound by Potsdam
France was left out of the Potsdam deliberations last year, and she has never failed to remind the other nations that she is not bound by the decisions made at that gathering. In addition, France has protested against the speech last week by Secretary of State Acheson at Stuttgart, in which he said in effect that Germany's present eastern frontiers are not irreversible, and this country has also objected to the policy of the Big Four covering the coal and steel of the Ruhr.

France is again raising her old cry of security, particularly in the case of the western frontiers of the Reich, and she wants permanent occupation of the left bank of the Rhine. She is also demanding what she regards as just reparations and a substantially increased allocation of coal.

Hands Tied by Elections
But M. Bidault cannot speak with the authority necessary to strengthen the French case until a representative and duly elected government comes into being, and that cannot happen before Dec. 24.

France votes for its new national assembly on Nov. 10, and on Nov. 24 France must select delegates who will elect the newly constituted council of the Republic, the second house in the new French Parliament.

On Nov. 20 the national assembly convenes, and on Dec. 8 the council of the republic is elected. On Christmas eve the new council convenes and the fourth republic becomes officially operative. The president of the republic, who is to be elected by a joint session of parliament, therefore cannot be named until some time in January 1947.

How M. Bidault can attend to all these vital national issues, and at the same time function actively as the foreign minister, is a mystery but he has been doing it almost that for some months now and indeed with some success. He may be able to continue.

Leadership Threatened
In the meantime, he is threatened in the leadership of his own party. The shadow of Gen. Charles de

Senator Hugh R. Mitchell, Washington, who charges that during the Rosenberg war guilt trials, American officers in Germany engaged in "spare-no-body" investigation of his charges which, he says, are based on information he received from a "trusted source."

Gaule still looms over the MRP, although it was Gen. de Gaulle who first chose M. Bidault as foreign minister, the struggle between the two men on foreign policy has always been marked. Gen. de Gaulle is to be his own foreign minister, but Premier-President Bidault refused to be a stooge and he was firmly opposed to de Gaulle's advocacy of a western bloc.

The MRP failed to support M. Bidault on the draft constitution, some voting "no" with Gen. de Gaulle and many abstaining. The national committee of the MRP is meeting to determine the strategy of its electoral campaign. And Premier-President and Foreign Minister Bidault is the target of a strictly domestic political fight at a time when far-reaching diplomatic decisions may be in the making.

Doubt Canadians Get More Salmon
By R. R. Hardy
OTTAWA—Despite an announcement by Fisheries Minister Bennett in the house last July, that the allocation of salmon for domestic use would be increased this year from 300,000 to 500,000 cases, fishermen and dealers said Thursday that according to information they had received from the salmon-packing industry in British Columbia housewives in Canada may not be able to obtain any more canned salmon than last year.

Reason is that the B. C. pack this year has been only two-thirds of what it was in 1945 and if Canada is to meet contracts with the British ministry of food there won't be enough salmon left to give Canadians the promised increase.

According to Salmon-packing firms, the industry in Canada has a contract with the British ministry of food for 70 percent of sockeye and coho, 50 percent of pink and 30 percent of chum; with the proviso that if these percentages do not reach a total of 1,000,000 cases they will take up to 40 percent of chum to bring the total up as close to 1,000,000 cases as possible.

In addition to this contract the government has allocated approximately 200,000 cases to pre-war export markets. Basis of these contracts was an expected 1946 pack of 1,700,000 cases.

Officials of the department of fisheries stated that the British Columbia pack up to October 3 totalled only 1,135,000 cases. Minister Bridges and other senior officials of the fisheries department were absent from the city and no official comment was forthcoming. However, prices board officials explained the understanding had been that 500,000 cases were to be allocated to Canada before any attempt was made to meet British requirements.

"If Britain feels she cannot get along with less than the 1,000,000 cases contracted for," explained a prices board official, "then it will be up to her to state her case."

It was explained some fishing is still going on and that the pack will not be complete until the end of October. Normally it is December before the new pack begins to reach the market.

Say Reds Assault British Officials

Name Committee On 'Bay' Route

REGINA, (CP)—Establishment of an inter-provincial technical committee on the Hudson Bay route and the port of Churchill, composed of representatives from Alberta, Manitoba and Saskatchewan, was announced Thursday by Co-operative Minister McIntosh.

The committee will deal with technical problems relating to the Hudson Bay route under direction of the policy committee, formed early this year. Mr. McIntosh said. Members of the technical committee are: L. D. Byrne, deputy minister of the interior, Alberta; R. S. Elliot, of the bureau of industry and commerce, Manitoba; A. H. Turner, of the Saskatchewan department of co-operation, and W. J. Hansen, director of Saskatchewan's trade services division.

The technical committee will be specifically concerned with cargoes, rail rates structure, marine insurance and other matters connected with handling cargoes at Churchill.

5,000 Poles Plan Return to Poland

LONDON, (GNA)—About 5,000 Polish soldiers formerly belonging to Lt. Gen. Wladislaw Anders' second army corps, who had been brought to Great Britain from Italy, have now announced their intention of returning to the homeland. War-war government circles report.

These men have reportedly changed their minds and refused to join the resettlement corps because they learned this does not mean a return to civilian life but a replacement of enemy prisoners of war in jobs of reconstruction and clearing away wartime debris.

Meanwhile, an incident which had arisen off Danzig, delaying the disembarkation of Poles, repatriates from Great Britain, on board the British ship Empire Battarax, has been settled. The 1,200 Poles will be allowed to disembark although no previous notice was given to the Polish authorities that the men were on the way home.

Suggest Dominions Aid Defence Move

LONDON, (CP)—Dominions Secretary Viscount Auckland Wednesday told the house of lords the view has been expressed that the dominions should play a higher share of imperial defence costs.

He was replying to Lord Chatfield, peer and minister, who had asked whether Britain can bear the present "great share" of imperial defence costs.

Sound Civic Policy

Quite a number of years ago Edmonton adopted a plan for the systematic year-by-year improvement of its streets. The plan was set to a moderate scale, as it had to be in the circumstances. But under successive councils it resulted in the paving of several miles of streets and the graveling of more miles of streets and lanes. Then came the city council and all such projects had to be pigeon-holed.

The war over, it is now possible to resume the improvement program as materials have become available. The city council has residential areas have come into existence, and the need of providing hard-surfaced streets is more urgent and far more extensive than it was when it had to be fled away from the city to arms.

The city council on Tuesday accordingly endorsed a plan for the systematic year-by-year improvement of its streets. The plan was set to a moderate scale, as it had to be in the circumstances. But under successive councils it resulted in the paving of several miles of streets and the graveling of more miles of streets and lanes. Then came the city council and all such projects had to be pigeon-holed.

This proposal seems to be reasonably in keeping with the spirit of the situation. It is ambitious but certainly not unduly so. It maintains the principle that street improvement should be a systematic, not a haphazard, or "wild" enterprise, such as the city council in thirty-three years ago — to its surprise and lasting regret. The cost is not large to be met out of the city's budget without again laying up a load of bonded indebtedness.

This may very well be adopted as an item of both the permanent civic policy. Subject of course to variation in order to meet unforeseeable needs. It is practicable. It involves probably as much work as can be done per year unless until material and labor supplies become more plentiful. It is probable also that when the ten-year term is reached we shall find the city council on putting down paving indefinitely at the grat result.

Edmonton of ten years ago has gone. This is now numbered among the larger cities of Canada. Its future expansion is certain. We have the means, as well as the will, to continue to improve it to keep on extending improvements in step with the growth of population and business.

The council and the Civic Betterment Committee deserve the solid backing of the taxpayers for reducing the improvement program to a sane and workable program of construction.

Too Good to Miss

Reports show that sales of Savings Bonds have been averaging close to $1,000 per day. This means that the purchasers have been mainly the middle class, earning $500 or a $1,000 bond, relatively few applications coming from people who could buy only $100 or $200 bonds.

It will be unfortunate if these smaller sales do not multiply. There must be a host of people who can buy a $50 or a $100 bond, but have not the mental habit of buying one of the larger types. These are the persons who most need this kind of investment. For there is no other correspondingly safe investment from which they can get as good a return in interest.

And of particular advantage to the small holder is the provision that the bonds can be cashed at any time without sacrifice of principal or interest. His money is tied up only so long as he wishes. If he should need the money at any time he will be able to get it, with interest up to date.

If this feature of the issue is well understood there should be a veritable flood of applications from those of limited means. This is the first time Canadians were ever offered this "open and shut" opportunity to put money into a Government bond which they can cash any day at full face value, with full interest allowance for the time the money has been invested.

This is a chance which no person should miss if it is at all possible for him or her to get one of the bonds, of whatever denomination.

Prison Staffs

The Canadian Penal Association Conference, recently in session in Windsor, has produced some valuable suggestions towards practical improvement of the handling and treatment of prisoners in Canadian jails and penitentiaries. Chief among these suggestions is the suggestion that the supervision of prisoners is quite impossible without adequately and fully trained personnel.

It is an accepted fact that prison guards are too frequently selected merely because they are physically equipped for what has always been regarded as a menial job. In the same way, prison officials and even the heads of prisons are sometimes chosen, not because they know anything about penology, but because they are in line for a government post.

Most Canadian prisons operate reasonably well. But this is not the purpose of the Penal Association to secure a system that operates perfectly and turns in reclamation results of a high order, "reasonably well" is not good enough. Nor should it be good enough for the Canadian people who know, or should know, the terrific economic and social cost of professional crime.

It seems to be obvious that prison work is essentially a highly specialized job. To do it properly, the prisoners to men who are not the reformers, but the criminals. They have no other qualifications but courage and a flair for discipline in life sending in a butcher, even an excellent butcher, to perform a delicate surgical operation.

Prison officials should be men of education. They should be men of understanding and humane qualities. They should have a knowledge of penology. They should see an apprenticeship to gain practical experience. And, above all, they should be men who constantly remember that prisoners are not so much for punishment as for human rehabilitation.

These requirements are fundamental, just as proper personnel is the only basis for successful prison reform.

With the right kind of men operating Canadian prisons it will be possible to perfect a system of penology that will show results.

Entertainment First

The army of "extras" who fill in the background of Hollywood's picture-making activities have captured the spotlight for the moment. They have staged something out of their usual line, and the result is not so much for punishment as for human rehabilitation.

The "extras" went on strike a few days ago, and are now going back to work—on the condition that they be paid for their contracts in their pockets and purses. Their contracts call for a 33 per cent increase in pay. Moreover, the increase dates back to January 1, 1934. The "extras" say that months' back pay increase coming in a lump sum.

This seems to set a record in pay boosts. It is doubtful if any of the numerous strikes in the industrial field during the last hectic year have brought the strikers as large a boost as this. The "extras" say that the big rewards do not go to those who feed the world, or supply clothing, shelter, and food. They go to the "extras" who are now going back to work—on the condition that they be paid for their contracts in their pockets and purses.

If the picture producers have to raise the price of theatre tickets in order to meet the cost of the "extras" who fill in their business, not even bring an outcry from the customers. Whatever it signifies, the "extras" are now going back to work—on the condition that they be paid for their contracts in their pockets and purses.

Spare Part Market

BY J. H. GRAY
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau
OTTAWA: One of the incidental, if small, gains which Canada got from the war was a large potential market for spare automobile parts on the continent of Europe.

When the Canadian market came home, they left behind, with the Dutch, Belgian and French governments, great quantities of army transports. In the aggregate many thousands of trucks were left behind. How many of these were in running order, and how many were wrecked or damaged is not known.

At present War Assets Corporation is now spring to collect statistics from its representatives in Europe. The actual disposal of the vehicles was part of a complex settlement of inter-allied obligations.

One of the problems which the new owners of the trucks encountered at once was the shortage of spare parts. The Dutch, Belgian and French governments were cannibalized to provide parts for those in the line. The Dutch transport vehicles, however, did not provide spare parts. The Dutch transport vehicles, however, did not provide spare parts.

There is an obvious point at which "austerity" becomes a law of the land, and there is much to be said of the view that the price of spare parts is a factor in the cost of the war.

Statistics showing the sale of goods overseas can be said and awarded to people who want nothing but a good spare part. It is a pity when the economy is so placed on the British market that it can hardly be said that the British market is a factor in the cost of the war.

Today in Europe

By Randolph Churchill

Edmonton Bulletin

NEW YORK — Taxi-drivers and porters who attempt to overrule the law, and the police who are common to every country, know his way around is easily to avoid falling victim to these petty racketeers.

But it seems that, at any rate in London, the police are not so much of a help as they are a hindrance. The police are not so much of a help as they are a hindrance. The police are not so much of a help as they are a hindrance.

There is a considerable number of people must put this dodge to rest. I have been phoned at least a dozen times by different organizations, all of them in the same line of business.

There is, of course, nothing illegal in the procedure. They cannot force you to buy, nor can they force you to sell. They can make themselves such a nuisance that many people probably pay attention to the fact that is to be strictly within the law, and there is no law against moral blackmail.

The only possible way to put an end to this persecution is for everyone to take a firm hand and refuse to be bullied into buying something he doesn't want. If that were done, the businesses would be told through lack of funds, and visitors to the city would be spared much of the annoyance.

10,000 Russian Mennonites Flee to Homes in Americas

KITCHENER, Ont., (CP)—Remnant of a perilous wartime trek across Europe, 10,000 Russian Mennonites are scrambling in towns and villages along the western fringe of the continent to avoid transportation by sea to new homes in the western hemisphere.

About 2,000 are to sail for Paraguay, South America, on a ship chartered by a central committee of the 175,000 Mennonites in Canada and the United States. Destination of the others has not been announced.

Mennonites who went to Paraguay in a previous colonization project in 1889 have undertaken to settle the first 1,000 people. A fund of $500,000 collected by Mennonite churches in Canada and the United States will be used to transport the entire 2,000 and to settle the second 1,000 on Paraguayan farms.

Trek Costs Millions
First word of the project came from Rev. C. L. Graber of Goshen, Ind., who addressed the seventh annual session of the conference of historic peace churches here this week. He said the plan would cost millions of dollars, to be raised by the Mennonites on this continent.

Hardships and migrations are nothing new to this people, who originated from a congregation formed in Zurich, Switzerland, in 1529. Recalling the persecution of human life and of a man's work, they refuse to bear arms or take oaths. They acknowledge only the authority of the Bible, postpone baptism until after a confession of faith, and disbelieve all church hierarchies.

During the years when bitter religious hate convulsed all western Europe, Mennonites were victims of persecution and violence and internal schisms weakened them. In 1786 they fled to colonies of German Mennonites founded in freedom in Russia where Catherine II granted them religious freedom, and the establishment of the first Mennonite colony in Canada.

State Avery said overcome by smoke, but the patients were unharmed and property damage small.

The fire, of unknown origin, started Wednesday night in a hospital room where it was confined after damaging furniture, a door and walls. The nurses fought the flames with fire extinguishers and blankets.

NEW YORK, (AP)—Louis E. Budenz, Fordham university economics instructor who a year ago renounced Communism to embrace the Russian cause, has been named as a spy by the U. S. State department.

Mr. Budenz, who said he expected to testify concerning Mr. Berger before the house of representatives committee on un-American activities probably late next month, described Mr. Berger as director of all Communist activity in the United States but a man virtually unknown to the party's rank and file. ## Sees Food Board As Peace Factor

WASHINGTON, (CP)—Sir John Boyd Orr, director general of the United Nations Food and Agriculture organization, Thursday forecast the proposed world food board would be the starting point of the kind of international co-operation necessary to avert a third world war.

He said a third world war would be the last war," he declared.

His information was that in about seven or eight countries would have the atomic bomb.

"In my opinion there is about a 50-50 chance of averting a third world war."

"We are racing against time," Sir John said, "and it is essential that we arrive at some plan on which nations can begin co-operation."

The United Nations organization was occupied almost entirely with "things that divide us," such as boundaries and spheres of influence.

"It is time now for international conference on things that unite people."

His proposal for a world food board which would buy unmarketable food surpluses in times of abundance and stockpile them for shortage periods, preventing wide fluctuations in world price levels and encouraging the development of agricultural countries should appeal to all countries and people, he said.

The proposal was submitted to the F.A.O. conference in Copenhagen last month and a joint committee of 16 member countries, including Canada, is to meet here Oct. 28 to prepare a report on the main objectives of the board.

Musicians to Get Increase of 37 1/2%
CHICAGO, (AP)—James C. Petrillo announced last Thursday that an agreement for a 37 1/2 percent wage increase for musicians who may be reached with eight members of the union.

No agreement has been arrived at in demands for wage boosts for musicians making electrical transcription, said Mr. Petrillo, president of the A.F.L. American Federation of Musicians.

Previously, Mr. Petrillo asserted he had asked 50 percent increases for artists making recordings, and musicians.

The proposed deal will contain 75 percent copper and 25 percent nickel.

Pure Nickel 'Out' For British Coins
LONDON, (Reuters)—A Conservative move to substitute pure nickel for the copper-nickel alloy with which the government plans to replace British silver coinage was defeated Friday in the commons 131 to 47.

The amendment to the coinage bill was proposed by Robert Peck, former junior minister, who said that from the viewpoint of "Canadian sentiment" it would be advantageous to adopt a metal introduced entirely within the confines of the British Empire.

Canada produced 75,213,000 pounds of nickel in 1944, with Australia, the principle source of supply.

Mr. C. Williams, Conservative, said pure nickel coinage would give Britain a "useful reserve" of the metal in case of another war.

"I think nickel is a specialty of Canada, and if we as Canadians, I beg the government not to take the provision of nickel coinage to be a little longer or to say the machines for cutting are not ready."

Glenvil Hall, financial secretary to the treasury, asked the commons to reject the amendment because, he said, coins were made to last and it was the government's view it should stop buying silver now.

Silver was being withdrawn to enable Britain to repay her debt of pure silver to the United States, without buying the metal on the market.

Mr. Hall said Britain has received no substantial concerning nickel from the Canadian government.

The proposed deal will contain 75 percent copper and 25 percent nickel.

Montrealer Hange For Slaying Aunt

MONTREAL, (CP)—Paul Henri Dery, 27, was hanged to Bordeaux here early Friday for the butchery slaying of his 57-year-old aunt, Mrs. Alfred Groulx, in Quebec city Feb. 17, 1943.

Sees Food Board As Peace Factor

WASHINGTON, (CP)—Sir John Boyd Orr, director general of the United Nations Food and Agriculture organization, Thursday forecast the proposed world food board would be the starting point of the kind of international co-operation necessary to avert a third world war.

He said a third world war would be the last war," he declared.

His information was that in about seven or eight countries would have the atomic bomb.

"In my opinion there is about a 50-50 chance of averting a third world war."

"We are racing against time," Sir John said, "and it is essential that we arrive at some plan on which nations can begin co-operation."

The United Nations organization was occupied almost entirely with "things that divide us," such as boundaries and spheres of influence.

"It is time now for international conference on things that unite people."

His proposal for a world food board which would buy unmarketable food surpluses in times of abundance and stockpile them for shortage periods, preventing wide fluctuations in world price levels and encouraging the development of agricultural countries should appeal to all countries and people, he said.

The proposal was submitted to the F.A.O. conference in Copenhagen last month and a joint committee of 16 member countries, including Canada, is to meet here Oct. 28 to prepare a report on the main objectives of the board.

Argentina Critic, Braden May Quit

By Malcolm Hobbs
WASHINGTON, (ONA) — Assistant Secretary of State Braden is expected to resign in a very short time. Report of his imminent resignation have been current for some months, but circumstances have now reached a decision stage. It is understood several of his friends in the State Department have already left the state department.

Mr. Braden who is in charge of United States relations with the American republics, has been under fire from military executives. It is stated, his resignation would be a triumph for the army and navy officers. In some quarters a violent campaign has been conducted against him, accusing him of being a Communist and a tool of the Soviet Union. His co-responder has heard Mr. Braden discuss Communism and military with vigor and thoroughness.

One of the effective opponents of Mr. Braden has been a lieutenant of his, William D. Pawley, ambassador to Brazil, who is now in this city. In some circles it is reported Mr. Pawley would succeed to Mr. Braden's post.

Observers agree Mr. Braden's departure would indicate the United States was about to reverse its long policy regarding President Peron of Argentina. Mr. Braden's resignation to the Peron regime is understood to be the main complaint of the military against him. In the view of the army and navy officers, his stand has been an obstacle in their plans for hemisphere defence, which would involve a definite alliance with all American republics including Argentina.

Plan Amendment Of Disputes Act

OTTAWA, (CP) — The dominion-provincial labor conference at Sturday gave general approval to a dominion proposal to amend the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act, leaving it as model collective bargaining legislation which might be adopted by the provinces on a voluntary basis.

The dominion's proposal was formally made known in a statement issued at the conclusion of the conference. The dominion and provincial labor ministers who had attended the three-day meeting also went on record favoring the holding of similar conferences annually.

While approval of the provinces was expressed in general, there was no complete agreement. The provincial delegates undertook to give further study to the dominion plan and the dominion will prepare a draft bill which will be submitted to the provinces for their consideration before it goes before parliament.

The bill will be designed to incorporate in the industrial disputes act the main features of the wartime federal labor code.

Main purpose of the conference was to consider the future of collective bargaining legislation. It is a matter largely within provincial jurisdiction. During the war the dominion stepped into provincial territory when it was necessary to which made collective bargaining compulsory in a large number of industries. This legislation is scheduled to expire March 15.

The new plan provides that it will be replaced by the revised dominion plan which will apply to industries within federal jurisdiction, such as inter-provincial transportation, mining, communication and certain public utilities. The provinces then would be free to adopt similar legislation in their fields in an effort to attain uniformity.

King May Attend Assembly Opening

OTTAWA, (CP) — Prime Minister King may attend the opening of the United Nations assembly in New York next week, it was unofficially reported here.

Should he go, Mr. King is expected to attend as an observer. The Canadian delegation would be headed by Foreign Minister St. Laurent. The delegation will leave for New York early next week.

"They will be lucky if they get back for Christmas," one official commented, indicating the assembly sessions were expected to extend over a considerable period.

In addition to the delegates, there will be observers, clerical staff, stenographers, messengers and interpreters. The Canadian delegation has to provide its own transportation from its New York hotel to Lake Success, where the assembly will begin its sessions next Wednesday. The party will total about 60.

Before Mr. St. Laurent, the parliamentary delegation will include State Secretary Martin Armstrong, Braden, leader of the Progressive Conservative opposition; M. J. Coldwell, C.P.C. leader; Senator W. A. G. Robertson and Senator John T. Reid, party leaders in the senate; Dana Wiggins, Canadian ambassador to Moscow, will join the delegation on his arrival from Europe.

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The White House announced President Truman will address the opening session of the United Nations assembly in New York Oct. 25.

Few German Plants On Reparation List

BRUSSELS, (AP) — The inter-allied reparations agency charges that the whole idea of taking German industrial equipment as reparations "islands in danger of being defeated" because of "negotiable delay" in allocating large numbers of plants to the victors.

The agency said it intended to bring the matter before the control of foreign ministers because failure to allocate the plants would mean non-observance of agreements made at Potsdam last year.

Nigel Burton, general secretary for I.A.R.A., said about 1,500 to 2,000 German factories should have been listed for reparations by now, but the agency's statement said only 72 plants from the western zone had thus far been made available.

Alaska Votes to Become 49th State

Territorial Governor Ernest Gruening and his wife, left, are shown casting their ballots in favor of statehood for Alaska. Returns in the preferential referendum indicate the people, by a two to one margin, felt the same way. Governor Gruening said he will ask the territorial legislature to petition congress to make Alaska the 49th state.

Poland Wages Grim Battle With Disease, Lack of Food

By Constantine Poulos
WARSAW, (ONA) — On top of all her other health difficulties, Poland is now faced by a threatened famine. The epidemic brought in by the country by repatriates from the eastern zones. Reported cases have increased sharply in Warsaw and western Poland. Most of the cases are children.

It seems that all of Poland's children paid the heaviest price for this war and it will take years to assess the damage caused by war to Poland's young and new generations. The birthrate has dropped just in half from 25 per 100 before the war to 12 per 100 now. The death rate among children has increased from 10 per 100 to 25 per 100. The average weight of children is 20 per cent below the pre-war standard and children are now affected by various diseases such as rickets and rickets which were formerly unknown here before the war.

In addition, incidents of active pulmonary tuberculosis have been found in more than 50 percent of the children under 16. Other statistics show the picture of Poland's health situation are equally appalling. About 1,500,000 adults have tuberculosis, more than 400,000 adults are affected by trachoma and still another 140,000 have been affected by contagious diseases such as typhoid and typhus.

The government's strenuous efforts to combat these scourges are seriously handicapped by a lack of men and means. The total number of doctors, dentists and trained nurses has been reduced nearly by one-half in each of these classifications. The shortages dovetail with the destruction or removal of nearly all the country's medical equipment by the Germans.

Relatively good results have been achieved by the ministry of health and the ministry of social welfare in improving the general health of the population during the past year. UNRRA has been particularly helpful in meeting some of the medical shortages. It has brought in about 14,000 tons of medical equipment, including 30,000 hospital beds, disinfectants, and liver oil and penicillin. UNRRA's medical supplies cover 30 percent of the current total requirements.

Children Come First
The ministry of health has wisely moved out its program to give first consideration to the health needs of the younger generation. Second place on the ministry's program is the cure and prevention of tuberculosis and venereal diseases and third is the training of new medical technicians.

Second place on the ministry's program is the cure and prevention of tuberculosis and venereal diseases and third is the training of new medical technicians. Into this program is the steady organization of health centers throughout the country.

Already 600 such centers have been set up in towns and 200 mobile clinics in centrally located villages. Social attention is being given to tuberculosis sufferers and to typhus victims although the latter danger has been kept in check largely through UNRRA's efforts.

For some unexplainable reason, the number of students enrolled in the medical schools is double the pre-war figure and now there are seven medical schools in the country. The contributions of medical and scientific equipment donated by Swedish charitable institutions have been of immense

Reach Stalemate In Bush Strike

PORT ARTHUR, (CP) — The strike of bush workers in Thunder Bay district, in which hope of an early settlement declined by union officials Wednesday, has reached a stalemate. Andrew Cooper of Toronto, general representative of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners (A.F.L.), said.

Mr. Cooper said hopes for a renewed attempt at conciliation received a setback when the Thunder Bay Labour Operators' association issued a statement declining to carry on further discussions until such time as the union was "prepared to live up to its agreement" to call a strike if the provincial government came up with the proposed legislation.

U.S. Lauds Canada For Meat Handling

WASHINGTON, (CP) — Canada once more is getting a lot of attention in American newspapers and on the radio networks as an example of good management of meat distribution at a time when meat—or the lack of it—is a major issue in the United States.

Republicans are hoping for a handful of protest votes in the November election and have entered a nasty campaign slogan—"Hud enough? Vote Republican."

Urges Preparation For Egg Market

REGINA, (CP) — Canadian egg producers should begin organization of their output to satisfy the fall and winter markets in Britain in order to maintain sale of Canadian eggs to the United Kingdom. John A. Peacock, director of the egg division of the British ministry of food, said Thursday.

Mr. Peacock in Regina to address a meeting of Saskatchewan egg producers and to sign a contract for shipment of a minimum of 100,000 dozen eggs between Feb. 1, 1949 and Jan. 31, 1950, ensuring an overseas market for Canadian producers for two years. The income from this shipment would be between $400,000 and $500,000.

Mr. Peacock said egg production in Europe probably would be normal again within a few years and then competition would start. The country to supply the British fall and winter markets would get the trade. Canada now supplies only approximately one-quarter of egg products used in Britain, he said.

Owner of Boston Sox Reaps Small Reward

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—(BUP)—Money isn't everything Tom Yawkey—the owner of the Boston Red Sox—knows that today. Despite 13 years of dreaming and millions of dollars spent, Yawkey's only reward was the spectacle of his team kicking away the world's championship.

His Red Sox went down 4-3 in the seventh game of the world series against the Saint Louis Cardinals—and that one run margin shattered the dream of a man considered one of the finest sportsmen in the game. They're saying

45 Players Attend EAC Gym Workout

Close to 45 young hockey players

YAWKEY TOOK a ribbing from the boys when he bought the Boston franchise in the American League 13 years ago. They said the team was a play for a season or two, and then they would drop it. He announced that he wanted to give Boston a good team, and that he wanted a world-beater. The franchise didn't include much in the way of ball players.

young Yawkey did the only thing he could do—he tried to buy the players to go with his franchise. He laid 125-thousand dollars on the line for pitcher Lefty Grove, 50-thousand for Max Baer, 50-thousand for Walter and another 50-thousand dollars paid for Jimmy Foxe, Doc Cramer and Eric McNair.

When he finished, Yawkey had a last season's club were out, those being Wally Laubman, Don Howison and Harry Gochoe. One notable—middle-aged player on hand was Jack Welshy, who played with the Lethin Ridge, middle-aged club that defeated the Red Sox for the Alberta title last spring.

The players were put through a light bit of gym work and then took out to the hockey rink.

He BROUGHT Joe Cronin to Boston as manager, and again the boys ribbed him, when Cronin couldn't produce. But Yawkey announced that Cronin was his manager, and he stood by Joe.

The team got off to a fast start. All the stars clicked, and the Red Sox won the pennant in the American League easily. With Saint Louis forced into a post-season playoff against Brooklyn, Boston stock for the world series soared. The Red Sox were the favorites to win the BANQUET FOR VISITOR: The chairman of a collective farm proposes a toast to Strohm: "In the name of the collective farmers of this farm I hope our dear guest tells only the truth of our heroes and the people who suffered. We have problems. We must reestablish and reconstruct to bring the happy life back again. In the near future we'll be able to heal the wounds of war. Tell the American people we're not afraid of work; that we'll overcome these handicaps and hardships. And we will return once more to the happy life we had before the war." The farmers drink samogan, a "moonshine" vodka; the well-stocked table is not an everyday meal, but a banquet spread for a special occasion.

ASSEMBLY LINE: One line in this Stalingrad tractor factory is in operation. Manager dodged question on production hopes; sign on wall listed goal at 6,000.

ADDING MACHINE: Russians work Chinese counter overtime. Shown above in Moscow's Hotel Savoy, this type of adding machine is in use throughout U.S.S.R.

PHYSICAL CULTURE PARADE: Husky, well-built girls stride across parade grounds in physical culture demonstration in Minsk. In each Republic, groups like this vie for chance to march in Moscow's All-Union parade.

RECONVERSION: This Red Army captain, who wears many decorations, is now the agronomist at Mironovka Seed Selection Station in the Ukraine. He stands beside a burnt-out tank which people just farm around because there's no way to move it. He was enthusiastic in his praise of Americans he had met in Germany.

DANCING LESSON: All the children at this tractor station near Stalingrad are cared for by two women while other adults of this community work in fields or at other jobs. Here two children dance for the others.

STORING HAY: Grass hay for the family cow is being put away in loft of log house farm by a woman on the "Victory" collective farm near Moscow. When she works for the collective farm, this woman gets credit for "work days"; when she works for herself like this, she gets no such credit.

NAZIS PASSED HERE: This ancient and beautiful Russian Orthodox monastery, built in the 11th century, was mined and blown up by the Germans in 1941. The Soviet government has allotted 26 million rubles for rebuilding the monastery, now inhabited by 62 monks, one of whom walks above in the litter left by German destruction. Nazis tried to strip gold leaf off the mosque-like domes of the historic buildings.

ON U.S.S.R. SHELVES, U.S. LABELS: All the food on the shelves of the store, above, is UNRRA food, without which people of Minsk would have starved. Russian woman here buys powdered milk. The only non-UNRRA goods on these shelves are vodka, champagne and other wines, with vodka selling at 120 rubles a liter ($10 at diplomatic rate of exchange, $24 at official rate).

GREETINGS: After making arrangements to visit a Machine Tractor Station near Stalingrad, Strohm found youngsters (left) lined up for his arrival under sign reading "Greetings to Our American Friends."

U. S. Cash to Aid German Industry

BERLIN, (UPI) — The United States is now prepared, through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, to advance funds to some sections of German industry in the American occupation zone.

The arrangement has been completed in a series of conferences here between Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, deputy military governor, and George Allen, head of the R.F.C., and Howard C. Petersen, assistant secretary of war.

Announcing the plan, Gen. Clay emphasized it is not considered a "loan" nor is it planned to undertake any general program of industrial re-equipping. The reason, rather, is that occupation is costing too much to American taxpayers in the view of officials.

The money will be "advanced" for the purchase of needed raw materials for those industries which can produce high-value exports at low material cost. Gen. Clay cited the instance of pottery and china, where an investment of $1,000,000 for materials, chiefly from Czechoslovakia, would produce exports valued at $6,000,000.

Among others to be aided will be makers of cameras, optical instruments and some light chemicals. A similar arrangement was made last spring to supply cotton to textile plants with a provision that 60 percent of the total should be used for the export trade.

Petersen said the war department budget for the current year sets aside $100,000,000 for military government civil relief in Germany. Of this $90,000,000 is for food alone. His sum will not be entirely exhausted, he said, indicating the department must ask for $100,000,000 more.

German exports, through which the country must pay something towards this huge sum, so far are only the merest trickle. In the first 18 months of the occupation they amounted to about $2,000,000, but only $2,000,000 could be applied to cash.

U. S. Reviews Ban On Grain Cargoes

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The Office of Defense Transportation Thursday revised its order of Monday banning the shipment of grain from Germany to American vessels.

O.D.T. said the original prohibition caused undue public hardship and that instead of a complete ban a system of general or special permits will be used.

The Monday order exempted Canadian shipments from Port William, Ont., to Duluth, Minn., or Superior, Wis.

At that time O.D.T. said the prohibition against Canadian shipments was necessary because of a shortage of American vessels needed to carry grain and oil and on the Great Lakes before winter and navigation.

Russian Charges Exposed by U. N.

By Nat Barrows

LARGE SUCCESS, N.Y. (UPI) — Every Russian analysis of trends at the 21-station general assembly, opening at 10:30 a.m. today, points to accelerated efforts by the Soviet to maintain their initiative within the United Nations.

With only a few notable exceptions, Russia has been carrying the ball ever since the U.N. settled into the country last spring. There is no sign that Gromyko, and even Molotov and Vishinskiy, intend to relax their direct thrusts on the line once the general assembly begins.

This is not what is worrying many delegates here, however. It seems to be that the Soviet emergence into the tangled world of international affairs that the Soviet government must try to throw their weight around.

see Inferiority Complex

Other delegations accept that as an indication of a somewhat psychopathic fear of not being considered an important power. They are aware that the infant U.S.S.R. approaches the world conference table at the U.N. with both suspicion and fear and, as a consequence, feels it must put up a defense by making a vigorous offensive.

What really is bothering the Anglo-American group is the vicious, inflammatory campaign against Britain and America which Molotov, along with the Soviet press and radio, now is conducting never before.

The anger and rabid language used by Molotov in the last days at Paris sets a bad atmosphere for the assembly and foreign ministers' meetings in New York. It is felt here there is little reason to hope this Soviet attitude will diminish in the next week.

"I thought I was WELL-INSULATED"

"polythene came along!"

Well may the thick-skinned rhinoceros grieve, for chemistry has produced an insulating material that puts even his tough hide to shame ... It is called polythene—a new plastic that stands up to heat and cold and is unaffected by any known chemicals at ordinary temperature. Its unusual insulating qualities make it an indispensable factor in the vast, new field of radar and television while it gets back to earth again in the form of simple, resilient, waterproof refrigerator bowl covers that seem to last forever ... polythene, in its scope of application, is another outstanding example of what Chemistry is contributing to our daily comfort and welfare.

Municipalities Call on Government For Greater Educational Aid

Resolutions urging the provincial government, to assume a greater share in educational costs; to make allowances to municipalities adequate to cover cost of municipal services and to remove a wartime 8 per cent tax on gas and electric light bills, were passed Thursday at the annual meeting of the Union of Alberta Municipalities.

T. E. GARSIDE, city solicitor and chairman of the legislative committee of the union, presided when resolutions were passed. In addition, a resolution urging the setting up of a commission to deal with the Dominion-provincial controversy over taxation rights with reference to municipal taxation was also passed. This was because of an increase in recent years of educational and health services provided by both governments had resulted in an increased tax burden on the municipality.

THE RESOLUTION dealing with the removal of an 8 per cent tax on gas and electric light bills was introduced by Ponka. It pointed out that the tax was levied during the war to assist in financing the war effort. With the war concluded, the tax was no longer justifiable in law.

Fallow Calls Freight Rates Protest Meeting

Stating that it was "imperative that immediate steps be taken" to prevent a projected 30 per cent increase in freight rates being sought by the Canadian railways, the Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, has called a meeting of representatives of various industries at his office in the legislative buildings, Saturday, Oct. 19, at 10 a.m.

PURPOSE of the meeting, said Fallow, will be "to prepare our case" to go to the board of transport commissioners.

Announcement of the meeting was made at the luncheon gathering Thursday of the Union of Alberta Municipalities held at the Macdonald hotel at which Mr. Fallow was speaker.

Mr. Fallow continued to say that representatives from the Edmonton and Calgary Boards of Trade, the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce and the Alberta Union of Municipalities have been asked to send representatives to the meeting.

AN INCREASE in freight rates this time would put an extra burden on the people of Western Canada, Mr. Fallow said. The "majority" of the most urgent, a preliminary meeting to protest the proposed action must be called without delay," he declared.

"We are seeking the help of organized bodies to assist in the preparation of our case for the board," he said.

"We hope that if our case is made strong enough, that such an increase will be turned down by the board," he concluded.

Ducks Plentiful North of Derwent

Although ducks are reported scarce at many Alberta points where normally they are plentiful, there are plenty in the area north of Derwent, it was stated by John W. Menzies of Derwent.

John, who is a student at the University of Alberta, spent the Thanksgiving weekend shooting in that area, and reports that the ducks are plentiful. Derwent is just north of Vermilion which is 140 miles east of Edmonton.

Marine Engineers Threaten Strike

VANCOUVER, (CP)—Threat of a strike of marine engineers covering 230 men on 48 Vancouver-registered freighters loomed Thursday as the major factor in a developing maritime strike picture that already has cut the Atlantic port of Montreal off from Canadian steamship service. Meanwhile a small dock-strike was settled at Victoria.

Most strikes in June were running short or entirely out of fuel, so that the Atlantic port of Montreal was cut off from Canadian steamship service. A $443,000 war risk bonus in basic freight rates was offered to the union and the Canadian lines. At Vancouver, the National Association of Marine Engineers turned down the shipowners' offer to restrict a $443,000 war risk bonus in basic freight rates to 10 percent wage increase. The union also written recognition by the shipowners, which they have offered only a "gentleman's agreement."

Under the Shipowners' Association of Canada, the union has a written agreement with the shipowners to be no alternative but strike action. The union also written recognition by the shipowners, which they have offered only a "gentleman's agreement."

SEATTLE, (AP)—Col. Peyton S. Jacobs, commanding the Seattle harbor, announced Thursday that he would recommend closing all ports to foreign vessels in the event of a strike by the union.

Claim Milk Rise Illegal in Ontario

TORONTO, (CP)—Dairies selling milk at more than 13 cents a quart may be open to prosecution under the Ontario Milk Control act, said Justice Minister, deputy chief solicitor, said Thursday.

He said his opinion on the legal position of dairies on increasing the price of milk to 13 cents a quart from 12 cents was based on the decision in Ontario supreme court Thursday that the Ontario Milk Control board had not approved any increase in the price of milk and that it will not issue any order or approve any agreement giving legal effect to a price increase.

Mr. Justice P. H. Barrow dismissed an application by Mr. Elsiebeth Morton, Labor-Progressive candidate in the Toronto Parkdale federal by-election, for an injunction restraining the milk control board from increasing the price of milk.

By a common of the attorney-general's department, said at the hearing that the board had made no order and did not intend to make one.
